TABLE MANNERS.—To meet at the breakfast table, father, mother, children, all well, ought to be a happiness to any heart; it should be a source of humble gratitude, and should wake up the warmest feelings of our nature. Shame upon the contemptible and low-bred cur, whether parent or child, that can ever come to the breakfast-table, where all the family have met in health, only to frown, and whine, and growl, and fret; it is prima facie evidence of a mean and grovelling and selfish degraded nature, whereas the child may have spring. Nor is it less mean to make such exhibitions at the table; for before the morning comes some of the little circle may be stricken with some deadly disease, to gather a round that table that again forever. Children in good health, if left to them eaves at the table, become, after a few months, garrulous and noisy; but if within all reasonable or bearable bounds, it is better to let them alone; they eat less, because they do not eat so rapidly as if compelled to keep silent, while the very exhilaration of spirits quickens the circulation of the vital fluids and energies, digestion and assimilation. The extreme of society curiously meet in this regard. The tables of the rich and nobles of England are models of mirth, wit, and bonhomie; it takes hours to get through a repast, and they live long. If anybody will look in upon the negroes of a well-to-do family in Kentucky, while at their meals, they cannot but be impressed with the perfect abandon of jocular, exclamation, and mirth; it seems as if they could talk all day, and they live long. It follows, then, that at the family table all should meet, and do it habitually, to make a common interchange of his fatherly courtesies, of warm affections, of cheering mirthfulness and that generosity of nature which lifts us above the brutish which perish, promotive as these things are of good digestion, high health, and a long life.—Hill's Journal.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE DOME OF OUR NATIONAL CAPITOL.—The dome of the Capitol at Washington is the most ambitious structure in America. It is a hundred and eight feet higher than the Washington monument at Baltimore, sixty-eight feet higher than the Trinity Church spire of New York. It is the only considerable dome of iron in the world. It is a vast hollow sphere of iron, weighing 8,000,500 pounds. How much is that? More than four hundred thousand tons, or about the weight of seventy thousand full grown people, or equal to a thousand laden coal cars, which, holding four tons apiece, would reach two miles and a half. Directly over your head is a figure in bronze, "America," weighing 14,885 pounds. The pressure of the iron dome upon its piers and pillars is 13,477 pounds to the square foot. St. Peter's presses nearly 25,000 pounds more to the square foot, and St. Genevieve, at Paris, 65,000 pounds more. It would require to crush the supports of our dome a pressure of 755,280 pounds to the square foot. The cost was about $1,000,000. The new wings cost about $5,500,000. The architect has a new plan for rebuilding the old central part of the Capitol and enlarging the park, which will cost about $3,200,000.
